GRAND KNIGHT'S MESSAGE

Brother Knights, Families and Friends:

As our glorious Easter season comes to a close, we have much to contemplate. Our Lord is with us, waiting to hear from us, ready to guide us. It is with prayer we make that connection with our Lord. And as always, there is much to prayerful about. We all have things to be thankful for. Certainly, no less than thanking Jesus for suffering and dying to save our souls and leaving the Spirit with us to guide us. It's graduation and wedding season to be thankful for and so much more. But we should also ask for God's forgiveness in our prayers. We are flawed humans and yes, we sin and make mistakes. Yet God is always there with His unconditional love ready to forgive us. And then we get to the part of asking for the Lord's help. It seems there is so much right now to pray for. The crazy weather and flooding; to pray all are safe and secure. The challenge to human life with our state promoting extreme abortion bills that we need God's help to prevent. And then all the personal needs we have to pray for. Prayer is so powerful. As Christians, I think it is our secret weapon to thrive in this crazy world.

Yet, what follows prayer must be action. As I wind down my three year term as Allouez Council's Grand Knight I think of all the actions the Knight's bring forward to support the Church and our local parishes. I am proud of what we have accomplished. But it is not me, it's YOU that makes it all happen. All the support and all the Faith in Action. Thank you to all who have supported me and the Council. Thank you for your time, talents, and treasure. We would be nothing without that. The council is in great hands with Chuck Gibbs taking the reins as Grand Knight. He has many ideas to keep Allouez moving forward. Continue to support and grow the Council with Chuck. With YOU, Allouez will remain great. Thank you!

May was another great month for the Knights:

- I hope you made it to Into the Breach, our Men's Morning of Reflection, with Fr. John Thieryoung. What a powerful presentation with insights on how Catholic men can influence this crazy world. It was his talk that has me contemplating our need for prayer and action.
- The Major Degree ceremony was a great success. Fourteen men advanced to become 3rd Degree Knights. Seven of them newly joined & seven advanced. Thanks to the organizers and the attendees!
- Allouez Council won a state program participation award at the State Convention! Again, thank you for the leadership and support for our Faith in Action efforts.
- Thanks to all who attended the Memorial Mass at Calvary Cemetery on Memorial Day.

Upcoming events include:

- On June 9 at 5:00 pm at the Rock Island Holiday Inn, the Knights honor the Police Officer and Fire Fighter of the Year at the 40th Civic Awards banquet. Contact me or Louie Alongi at 309-786-9625 by June 5 to make a reservation. It's a great event, I hope to see you there.
- The 2nd big event of the spring/summer is The Knight's taking on the challenge to be marshals for the 17th hole of the John Deere Classic on Thursday and Friday, July 11 and 12. We have a good start for volunteers, but we can still use more. Watch for more information or call me at 563-529-6582 to get the details. Some of us volunteered last year and it was a blast!
- Flag Retirement at the Arsenal Cemetery on June 15. Call Dr. Bud Phillis at 787-0955 to retire a flag.

Brother Knights, our next Officers' Meeting will be at 6:30 pm on June 10 at Farrell Hall. Our next Council Meeting is June 13 also at Farrell Hall. As usual, we will have a light meal at 6 pm followed by our council meeting at 7 pm. Be sure to join us for our new officer's election this month. These meetings are an opportunity for all to connect with your fellow Knights and to stay informed about everything Allouez Council is doing! I hope to see you there!

Remember, let Jesus be your model and let the Holy Spirit be your guide!

DEACON'S QUESTION BOX

See the Abstract Archives for a list of past questions.

What is Holiness?

I have often talked about the need to increase holiness; by individuals, parishes, and the Universal Church. It recently occurred to me that I have not really defined what is meant by holiness.

Holiness is usually defined as moral goodness. That is a correct but partial view. Holiness has a moral, an ontological, and a ritual sense. The one definition that is critical to all three is this: holiness is the clear distinction of one from many. To be holy is to be unique, to be set apart from what is common, imperfect, or wicked.

Ontological holiness is God Himself; His essence is holiness. Therefore, He becomes the reference point on which we measure and define holiness. Ontological holiness is also the state of being in union with God and a sharer of his Trinitarian life. This is imparted to us in the Sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, and Ordination. It constitutes a mark that cannot be removed and sets us apart. That is why sinfulness is more repugnant in the baptized and confirmed and in the ordained than it normally would be.

Moral holiness is the goodness that exists in our actions. It is a result of ontological holiness. In moral holiness, we conform our character to be like God thus setting us apart. It is how others can see the reality of the change within us. The more we have moral holiness, the less space there is for sin.

In the ritual sense of holiness, we find the consecration of people, places, and things to God. It also imparts an invisible character. We can see this in how the Church sets aside certain things as holy; the chalice, the church building, the altar, the sanctuary; the covenant with God. We can see similar things in nature or society but these are common as opposed to those sanctified ritually.

In baptism, all three senses of holiness are present; the catechumen is ontologically changed; he is infused with the charity whereby moral holiness arises; and he is consecrated in the sight of all as the temple of the Holy Spirit.

"These are foundational principles from which many implications can and ought to be drawn. The Church is constituted in, called to, and consecrated in holiness. Holiness is the reason she exists; it is her origin and destination. It is the light with which she lightens the world, the salt whereby she seasons it, and the bait whereby she catches souls. It is Christ, living and moving in His mystical Body. May we all come to realize just how essential holiness is to all of us individually, and especially to the life of the Church." (Jonathan Cariveau, November 29, 2017, One Peter Five)

Which of the two would you call to be released?

Feel free to drop me a question for this column. Questions may be dropped off on the head table at a Council Meeting or sent via email to Deacon Russ Swim, Assistant Chaplain, rpswim@mchsi.com, phone 786-3097.

PRO-LIFE MESSAGE

Does Pro-Life Rhetoric Lead to Violence?

Pro-abortionists frequently tell us to keep our opinions — and even our science — to ourselves. They say that we must not refer to abortionists as "baby killers" and to abortion as "murder." `Catholics' for a Free Choice goes even further, claiming that anyone who says that preborn children are human beings encourages terrorism.

Pro-abortionists have gone to great lengths to soothe the public with a cascade of meaningless "feel-good" words specifically designed to numb people's consciences. They call the preborn child a "blob of tissue;" the abortionist is a "reproductive health provider;" and the abortion procedure itself is a "voluntary interruption of pregnancy" (VIP) or "just like removing a wart or fingernail clippings."

They naturally become angry when pro-lifers undo all of their hard work and point out what any three-year-old child knows: That the preborn child is a living human person. The pro-abortionist's only option is to distract people from basic embryology to some tangential subject. So they allege that "anti-choice rhetoric" leads to violence. The `Religious' Coalition for Reproductive Choice (RCRC) claims that "The notion that human life or personhood begins at the moment of conception is the foundation of anti-choice language … However, it seems that pro-abortionists do not really believe that violent words and images lead to more violence — otherwise they would refrain from using it themselves. There are hundreds of examples of pro-abortionists and other liberals advocating death and destruction for conservatives, but Planned Parenthood, as always, stands out.

The difference between forceful pro-life and pro-abortion speech is that pro-lifers are defining and condemning what the pro-abortionists do; in return, the pro-abortionists are depicting the killing of pro-lifers. Some pro-lifers have urged others to tone down the forceful rhetoric. But we must not fool ourselves into thinking that pro-abortionists would limit themselves to banning pro-life speech if they had the power. Abortion is a very lucrative business.

Much more importantly, however, pro-lifers must understand that abortion is gender feminism's most powerful ideological symbol. It represents "choice" and "freedom" to anti-lifers more vividly than any other issue. For some of the most extreme, it is even a sacrament. As Carolyn Hax of the Washington Post wrote, "The abortion right is being left undefended by its true champions — the women who owe not their lives, but their lifestyles to the convenience of legal abortion. … Abortion has validated a lifestyle that allowed room for irresponsibility. … Among its perks are extended travel, higher education, unbroken career paths, choosing a different father, limiting family size, and going out and getting drunk after work."

This is why pro-abortionists absolutely will not compromise on it, and this is why its advocates and defenders ardently desire to prohibit all pro-life activity. Since it is so visible to the public, many pro-abortionists especially want to outlaw all pro-life street activity, including rescue missions, sidewalk counseling, picketing and even silent prayer. Some would also like to ban all behind the scenes activities by pro-lifers, including crisis pregnancy centers, adoption, pro-life legislation, all lobbying, organizing and education, and even talking to our friends about abortion because they say that this is, believe it or not, "spiritual battering!"

Some pro-abortionists say that priests and ministers must never mention abortion in their homilies or celebrate Sanctity of Life Sunday. They say that bishops cannot exert control over their own property by banning pro-abortion meetings. In fact, some allege that the Catholic Church cannot even refuse to donate money to pro-abortion groups such as UNICEF.

Finally, while ignoring women who are suffering from the mental and emotional aftereffects of abortions, many "pro-choicers" condemn even pro-life attempts to help women with programs such as Project Rachel. Incredibly, they even denounce pro-lifers who offer money and other aid to pregnant women to help them through their pregnancies and beyond.

In summary, these pro-abortion extremists allege that "If religious leaders sincerely want to deter the terrorists, they must disavow one premise … that there is no significant difference between the human life of the unborn and human life of the born human being." The pro-abortionists are terrified that the visibility of the pro-life movement will sway public opinion against them. For these extremists, it is all about keeping pro-lifers out of the public eye.

There is a simple and straightforward explanation for this extreme "pro-choice" sensitivity to any form of opposition. The pro-abortionists know full well that we are right — they are killing babies, their consciences are stinging over it, and some of them are even honest enough to admit it.

For example, abortionist Magda Denes said, "I do think abortion is murder — of a very special and necessary sort. What else would one call the deliberate stilling of a life? And no physician involved with the procedure ever kids himself about that … legalistic distinctions among "homicide," "justified homicide," "self-defense," and "murder" appear to me a semantic game. What difference does it make what we call it? Those who do it and those who witness its doing know that abortion is the stilling of a life." Novelist Norman Mailer seconded this view when he said, "I am perfectly willing to grant that life starts at conception. If a woman doesn't want to have a child, then I think it's her right to say no. But let's not pretend that it isn't a form of killing."

Abortion mill workers know that they are assisting in the killing a baby as well, and do everything they can to shield aborting women from this fact. Abortion mill nurse Norma Eidelman said that "We tried to avoid the women seeing them [the fetuses]. They always wanted to know the sex, but we lied and said it was too early to tell. It's better for the women to think of the fetus as an `it.'" Abortion mill worker Kathy Sparks confessed, "Sometimes we lied. A girl might ask what her baby was like at a certain point in the pregnancy: "Was it a baby yet?" Even as early as 12 weeks a baby is totally formed, he has fingerprints, turns his head, fans his toes, feels pain. But we would say `It's not a baby yet. It's just tissue, like a clot.'"

Pro-abortionists are not concerned about the truth; they simply want to stamp out all opposition to abortion because it is so powerfully symbolic to them. Despite injunctions, despite threats, and despite endless pro-abortion violence, pro-lifers must continue to loudly and clearly proclaim the truth in as many ways and as many venues as possible until the very last preborn child is safe.

Jack Swan, Pro-Life Director

JD CLASSIC 17TH HOLE MARSHALS

Worthy Knights,

We have set up an awesome opportunity for QC Illinois Knights to serve as 17th hole Marshals on Thursday, July 11 and Friday, Jul 12 for the upcoming John Deere Classic.

Here are the details:

We have decided to take the leadership to recruit JDC volunteers to support Hole #17.

We need 18 volunteers each shift to marshal Hole #17 on Thursday & Friday, July 11 & 12, 2019.

Shifts include, approximately:

Thur:	7am to 1pm	1pm to 7pm	36 slots
Fri:	7am to 1pm	1pm to 7pm	36 slots

That makes 72 slots to fill. Each volunteer is expected to take 2 slots. Thus, we would need at least 36 volunteers.

That's a big commitment, but if we all work together I know we can do it.

Don't worry, there are various jobs for different abilities.

Also, we plan to open the hole up to general volunteers through the JDC web site for additional support as needed.

This event is a lot of fun.

In addition to feeling good about donating your time and effort to one of the Quad City's biggest events of the year, volunteers also receive a number of perks!

- FREE admission to the tournament all week
- Up close and personal with those golfers you only see on television
- A FREE round of golf at TPC Deere Run ($30 cart fee separate, non-transferrable)
- FREE lunch each day you work at the tournament
- FREE parking & shuttle service
- Invitation for you and a guest to attend the Volunteer Appreciation Party
- Volunteers are eligible for prizes drawn daily during tournament including a 2018 signed Tee Marker!

Go to https://johndeereclassic.com/volunteer to register. Make sure you sign up for hole #17, Thursday July 11 and/or Friday July 12.
